

REPUBLICAN TICKET NAMED.

Roosevelt and Fairbanks Get Every Vote in the National Convention at Chicago.

BLACK'S GREAT SPEECH

Oratory and Pandemonium Mark Closing Session.

Chicago, June 24.—The swift, sure current of public opinion for the second time in the history of Republican conventions resulted in the selection of a national ticket without a dissenting voice. Theodore Roosevelt for president and Charles W. Fairbanks for vice president received every vote in the convention.

Regardless of the fact that the nomination of one had been assured for months and the other for days, the announcement of the choice was accompanied by a resounding demonstration which testified to the candidates' universal popularity.

No less than 10,000 men and women participated in the ratification of the party program and the consequent roar of cheering and band playing was deafening. The band stationed high among the girders of the hall was drowned by the tumultuous demonstration. Hats were tossed in the air, state emblems were waved, and flags—beautifully tricolorized shimmering silken flags, fluttered from every hand as though stirred by a gale.

When Governor Black of New York made his speech nominating Theodore Roosevelt to succeed himself as president, the delegates in the Republican convention proved there is no absence of enthusiasm in their ranks when occasion justifies exhibition of that quality. For 25 minutes, great throngs told its approbation of the convention's choice for president. The name of Roosevelt came from every throat. The New York delegation, headed by the speaker, waved the top of their voices. Other delegations joined the procession and the well ordered body of half an hour before was a shifting mass, every semblance of organization gone.

While the demonstration was at its height Chairman Cannon stepped to the front of the stage. He held in his hand the banner which was waved in 1860 when Lincoln was nominated and which has been used in every convention since. The flag showed the wear and tear of many similar contests. "Uncle Joe" waved it vigorously and kept time with his body. Soon the whole audience was waving in exact measure. The chairman, third and his place was taken by a young man, who grasped the flag staff firmly in one hand and with a megaphone led the yelling. He started the call, "Roosevelt, Roosevelt, Roosevelt," repeated over and over again with the system of a college yell. It was taken up by the throng and the cry of Roosevelt rolled over the hall in volume.

At the conclusion of every second speech the performance was repeated and the speakers themselves were generously applauded. When Senator Fairbanks had been nominated for vice president there was no diminution in the demonstration. Voices were hoarse but the noise for second choice was as unanimous as it was in filling the first place on the ticket.

It was 10:30 o'clock when Speaker Cannon called the convention to order. Without preliminaries of any kind he announced the order of the day and instructed the secretary to call the roll for nominations for president. By agreement Alabama, the first state on the roll, yielded to New York. That was the signal for the first outburst of applause. In the midst of the cheering former Governor Black made his way to the platform. Speaker Cannon took him to the front and characteristically introduced him to the audience. Mr. Black spoke as follows:

President Roosevelt Nominated.
Mr. President and gentlemen of the convention: We have here to inaugurate a campaign which seems already to be nearly closed. In one column reading from the Maine woods to the remotest of the States which have stood so long together. When great emergencies arise the nation turns instinctively to its chief. In this column, vast and solid, is a great party, ever waiting that the scattered soldiers of opposition can hardly make another army. The enemy has neither arms nor munitions, and if they had they would use them on each other. There is discord among the soldiers. Each would fight in his own way, but before assaulting his Republican adversary he would first defeat his own comrades in the following order:

When all the people have forgotten what a golden era for this new Democracy, but the country is not ready yet to place a party in the lead whose most expressive motto is the cheerless word "fugate." That motto may express condition, but it does not inspire hope.

There is one fundamental plank, however, on which the two parties are in full agreement. Both believe in the equality of men. The difference is that the Democratic party would make man as low as the lowest of the dog, the Republican party would make man as high as the best.

There are many new names in these days, but the Republican party needs no new title. It stands now where it stood at the beginning. Memory is not needed to tell the source from which the inspirations of the country flow.

The name of the Republican party stands over every door where a righteous cause was born. Its members have gained around every movement, no matter how weak, if inspired by high justice. Its flag for more than fifty years has been the sign of hope on every spot where liberty was the word. That party needs no new name or platform to designate its purposes. It is now as it has been, equipped, efficient and in motion.

problems of every age that age must solve. Great causes impose great demands, but never in any emergency have an American people failed and never in any crisis has the Republican party failed, to express the conscience and intelligence of that people.

Kind of Man the People Want.

The American people believe in a man or party that has convictions and knows why. They believe that what experience has proved it is able to make a wise man is any fool about to die. But there is a wisdom which with good fortune may guide the nation in the future. That wisdom springs from reason, observation and experience. Guided by these, this thing is right, and young men, they may not know it, but they are the essence and aspirations of patriotism, and their best example in the career and doctrine of the Republican party.

You have come from every state and territory of this vast domain. Every highway in the land is leading here and crowded with members of that great party, whose name in this epochal era is the symbol of its rise and power. With this unimpeded multitude is every rank and condition of free men, and every purpose and desire have gathered up all, and from every rank and corner of the country, they have come to this place, to this most exalted office in the world.

It is no strange waiting in the shade to be called suddenly into public light. The American people have seen him for many years, and always where the light was thickest and the greatest need was. He has been able to comprehend the persons of peace and in the arduous stress of war. No man now living will forget the night when the American mind was inflamed and American patriotism was aroused; when among all the great officers serving to the front a soldier, the man whom this convention has already in its heart was among the first to hear the call and answer to his name.

Praying peace, but not afraid of war, faithful to every private obligation, yet first in courage at the sign of national peril; a leader in civil life and yet a risk to comprehend the arts of war; a man who stands in a day to meet the high exactions of command.

Test of Unexpected Danger.
There is nothing which so tests a man as great and unexpected danger, yet that is the test which the American people have put to him. He has been better known in every household in the land. He is not only a name, but a name which means a man who has met again to deprecate and recognize.

His qualities do not need to be proved, for he has been in the front of every battle. He has been better known in every household in the land. He is not only a name, but a name which means a man who has met again to deprecate and recognize.

There is no regret so keen, in man or country, as that which follows an opportunity unseized. The chairman, third and his place was taken by a young man, who grasped the flag staff firmly in one hand and with a megaphone led the yelling. He started the call, "Roosevelt, Roosevelt, Roosevelt," repeated over and over again with the system of a college yell. It was taken up by the throng and the cry of Roosevelt rolled over the hall in volume.

A profound student of history, he is today the greatest history maker in the world. With the feeling of the world he is yet forced from the scholars' pen by the force of his own qualities which in him to the last degree for the great world's eyes now resting first and foremost upon him for many years before.

The fate of many will still be decided by his words. You may talk of orderly tribunals and learned referees; you may say in your schools the gentle phrases of the law; you may talk of the last out of very martial armor, and yet out in the smoke and thunder of the great world, you may find the silent, rigid, unyielding face, the manly posture and womanly grace, but you will come here to find, forever on this day, only the great world's eyes now resting first and foremost upon him for many years before.

There are times when great a man is hardly less than destiny, when the elements seem to conspire together to select the agent they will use. Events some times select the strongest man, as lightning picks out the highest peak, and so it is to a single name which I am chosen only to announce. Gentlemen, I nominate for president of the United States the highest living type of the youth, the vigor and the promise of a great country and a great age, Theodore Roosevelt of New York.

Roosevelt's Nomination Seconded.
Senator Beveridge was recognized by the chair for the purpose of seconding the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt for president. He said in part:

One difference between the opponent and ourselves is this: They select a candidate for the people, and the people select our candidates for us.

Theodore Roosevelt, like William McKinley, is the nominee of the American people. He is a great country and a great age, Theodore Roosevelt of New York.

NEW POISON IN MILK.

State Food Agent Hutchinson Took Samples From Local Dairies. P. M. Food Agent Hutchinson at Jeannette, Pa., was in town yesterday conferring with Health Officer Allen Hyatt relative to the recent discovery of a new and potent poison, which has been extensively introduced in Pennsylvania as a preservative of sweet milk. In a great many cases recently this poison, which is a dangerous concoction, has been found in alarming quantities.

Hyatt and Hutchinson secured samples from every dairy in town, and the samples, securely sealed, were sent to State Chemist Ashman at Pittsburgh, where they will be carefully analyzed and reported upon. If any adulterations are found, informations will be brought immediately.

After the milk inspection Agent Hutchinson and Officer Hyatt drove around Connellsville. The agent was very much impressed with the good sanitary condition of the town, and was loud in his praises of the Board of Health and the earnest efforts of Health Officer Hyatt to keep the town in a good sanitary condition.

Hutchinson will visit all the communities of Western Pennsylvania in an effort to punish the milk dealers who are using the injurious substance.

TRADE EXCURSION

Out of Pittsburgh Include Connellsville in Its Itinerary.

Arrangements for the trade excursion of the Merchants & Manufacturers' Association were practically completed at a joint meeting of the board of directors and the trade excursion committee of the association Wednesday afternoon at Pittsburgh. As already announced, the excursion will be through the prosperous northern section of West Virginia. The route will be via the Baltimore & Ohio railroad and the dates July 12, 13, 14 and 15.

In a special train equipped with Pullman sleeping cars to furnish accommodations to everyone joining in the excursion, with a dining car, the party will leave Pittsburgh about 1:30 P. M. July 12. They will go over the Wheeling branch of the Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore & Ohio, and except for a trip over the West Virginia Central & Pittsburgh, a part of the Wabash system, will be on the Baltimore & Ohio continuously.

The announcement of the plan has awakened an interest in West Virginia that has been greatly appreciated by the Pittsburgh business men who compose the association. Special invitations to accept the hospitality of the Morgantown and Fairmont business men have been received.

The train will be equipped with all that can carry the gospel of Pittsburgh trade into one of the wealthiest sections of the Pittsburgh district. The trip will cover about 300 miles. Its scope will include the following well known cities: Wheeling, Moundsville, New Martinsville, St. Marys, Marietta, O., Parkersburg, Cairo, Pensacola, Salem, Clarksburg, Weston, Buchanan, Grafton, Philippi, Belington, Elkins, Parsons, Thomas, Davis, Keyser, Piedmont, Cumberland, Fairmont, Morgantown, Uniontown and Connellsville.

It is proposed to show to the business men of West Virginia that Pittsburgh appreciates their patronage and can give them better values than any other city offers. The arrangements have been in charge of a special committee composed of H. W. Neely, C. W. Costello and George W. Stewart. General Manager James W. Wardrop of the association has worked in connection with the committee in perfecting the arrangements for the excursion.

TAX COMING IN.

However, Only One-Half the County Merchants Have Paid Up.

County Treasurer Richard McLean reports that less than one-half of the mercantile tax has yet been paid, although the last day for such payment is July 1. There is a large number of delinquents this year than there has been for a long time at this date. While there is always a great rush the last few days before the tax expires, it is safe to assume that there will be a large portion of the tax unpaid on July 1. All the merchants have been properly notified and unless they come up with the cash they may expect to figure in a lawsuit.

The Act of May 2, 1899, provides that each retail vendor of or retail dealer in goods, wares or other merchandise shall pay an annual mercantile license tax of $2.00, and all persons so engaged shall pay one mill additional on each dollar of the whole volume, gross, of business transacted annually. Each wholesale dealer is to pay an annual license tax of $3.00, and all persons so engaged shall pay one-half mill additional on each dollar of the whole volume, gross, of business transacted annually.

The funeral of Baroon was held from Stader's chapel. He was interred in the New Haven Polish Cemetery.

FINE COMMENCEMENT

Held by Business College in Scottdale Thursday Evening.

PROMINENT SPEAKERS THERE.

Congressman Geo. T. Huff and Judge Doty of Greensburg Made the Chief Addresses—Program of the Graduates.

Scottdale, June 24.—The Geyer Opera House was filled with people on Thursday evening for the occasion of the first commencement exercises of Peterson's Business College. At 8 o'clock all the seats down stairs and in the balcony were taken and many had to stand. The stage was profusely decorated with cut flowers and plants and the college colors, pink and green. Over the top of the stage hung the letters, "P. B. C., '04," made of green leaves intertwined with pink flowers. The class, consisting of 47 young men and women, then occupied seats on the stage and also a number of business men and the speakers.

Rev. J. B. Lyle offered the invocation. Prof. Peterson introduced Col. Geo. T. Huff of Greensburg as chairman. Colonel Huff made a few remarks stating as he entered Scottdale this evening his thoughts ran back 34 years ago when this was a little village known as Fountain Mills and that he and three other men came through here making plans for the opening up of the Southwest branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. Several years later he and the honor of christening our town when she received her name of Scottdale. He spoke very encouragingly about the business college and then introduced Judge H. L. Doty of Greensburg as the principal speaker of the evening. He said in part:

"There is nothing more promising and profitable in a town than the seat of a flourishing institution of learning. Everybody today is trying for success. This is a turning point in these young people's lives. There is nobody in any more auspicious circumstances than this class. They live in the best country, where they have the best form of government. A government of the people, by the people and for the people, one in which the people can aspire. But one can get out of every hundred people succeed; nevertheless success is attainable by every individual. Success is not in winning, for when we win someone must lose. Attaining riches is not success, but is winning. Not everyone can attain riches, so when we get a fortune we are holding that which belongs to others and we win while they lose. To aspire to a position of success, to success, for everybody can't be president, judges, etc. When we do get an office it is winning, and you disappoint someone else; one gains the victory, the other meets defeat.

"Success is simple. Education is one door that leads to it. No man will ever succeed without an education. Education is taken from a Latin word which means 'to bring out.' Many people have the idea that education is not necessary and that it is the self-made man that counts. Many of our fathers who were born in poverty and gained success were self-made, but they passed through the school of experience, and the best education is self-education. A man may be instructed in athletics and never be an athlete. He may study the science of handling guns and not become a soldier, and in order to have education along these lines he must practice as well as study.

"There is more money in this country devoted to public schools than to any other purpose and while we have the best form of education in the world it seems crime as on the increase and many of these come from our schools of learning; and also intoxication is on the increase. Much of this is attributed to the fact that there are more people in some institutions of learning for one profession than there are places to fill and many are not fitted for their particular profession. We should have more schools in which pupils could learn carpentering, farming, etc.

"If we would gain success we will have to learn self-control and also our duty toward others and learn to obey the law." He then closed by quoting Ps. 1:1-2, "Blessed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful, but his delight is in the law of the Lord, and in His law doth he meditate day and night."

Rev. M. A. Lambing presented the diploma to each student making a short address to them commending them on their attainments and spoke very encouragingly of the school and also of the class. The vocal selections by Charles S. Connell were well rendered and were highly appreciated by the audience. A large number of people were present from Mt. Pleasant, Pennsville and surrounding towns.

The success attained by the first year's work of the Peterson Business College in Scottdale ought to increase interest in the college and Scottdale should be proud of having a college in which her young may be fitted out with a practical business education.

WANT ROADS CHANGED

Supervisor of Lower Tyrone Thinks Improvements Necessary There.

LAUREL RUN HIGHWAY BAD.

The Fate and Leans of Uniontown Have a Game of Base Ball Scheduled for June 30 and a Big Crowd is Assured.

Uniontown, June 23.—[Special.]—Henry Davis, supervisor of Lower Tyrone township, was here this week consulting with an attorney with reference to certain changes which he thinks are necessary to be made in a couple of the roads in that township. One of these changes is in the road leading from the store at Sackett to Oakdale school house. On that portion between the home of Joseph M. Bates and Laurel Run. The road between these two points was not originally laid out as a public highway although it has been used as such for many years. It is very narrow as well as very steep and the heavy rains this summer have washed it so badly that it is now almost impassible. Davis wants it widened and otherwise put in proper shape for the heavy traffic which passes that way. There is also a very bad place in the same road near the Stanley residence a mile north of Dawson. The waters of a run have so encroached on the roadbed as to make it almost impassible and very dangerous for some distance. Mr. Davis authorized Attorney to make them among the citizens of the township. Harry A. Cotton to draw up the necessary petitions and he would circulate. They will then be presented to court, and it is likely that viewers will be appointed to enquire into the propriety of making the changes that are now being suggested.

A great deal of public interest is being manifested in the game of ball which is to be played here between the "fats" and "leaves," June 30. The game will be played at Cycle Park and the entire proceeds will go to the fund of the local hospital. The "fats," who are expected to figure in the line-up are Vance Graft, E. D. Fulton, Geo. O. Rush, D. W. McDonald, Pete Shepherd, S. S. Patterson, John Gibson, Frank Lavin, Dr. C. R. Glass, Dr. E. Hagley, Dr. J. W. Parrish and A. C. Hagan. The lineup on the side of the "leaves" is as follows: Thomas H. Hudson, Cornelius Claggett, Jay Collier, T. B. Montgomery, Daniel Sturgeon, Frank H. Rosborough, J. A. Strickler, N. P. Cooper, T. P. Jones, Dr. J. W. Allen, George Sloan and Theo. R. Coffin. Those who enjoy a good hearty laugh should not fail to be present when the game is called. Large posters announcing the game are now being put up throughout the county and a big crowd is assured if the weather permits.

Dr. and Mrs. James Spickman have returned from their wedding trip and will remain here for a few days as the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Miller, before leaving for their future home in Cambria county.

William Rumbaugh of Outcrop, was committed to jail by Judge John N. Dawson on a charge of larceny which consisted of taking a stove from a house at the Sackett coal works near Smithfield. Constable Holmes brought Rumbaugh to jail.

Attorney George B. Jeffries has filed a number of reasons in support of a new trial for Louis Costello, who was convicted at the June term of court, of a statutory offense. The principal reason why Mr. Jeffries thinks a new trial should be had is that the verdict of the jury was against the weight of the evidence.

A hearing was held before Attorney J. W. Dawson, as master, Wednesday, in the divorce case of Alice Hayden against John Hayden.

PENN SHAFT CLOSED.

Old Coal Mine Now in the "Worked Out" Class.

The Penn shaft coal mine, east of Irwin, opened in 1871, has been abandoned and is now in the "worked out" class. In the earlier days 150 men were employed in its workings, but recently the force has been limited to 35 men.

During the 33 years that the Penn shaft has been operated, about 12,000,000 tons of coal have been taken out and as many dollars spent in accomplishing the work. It is one of the older mines in the Irwin district.

Dull. Aside from these presents Mr. Brainer was presented with a fine and costly sideboard, a scarf by the choir of New Bremen, Ohio, of which he was formerly a member; also a solid silver shaving set by the Ohioville Athletic Club of which he was also a member. Mr. and Mrs. Brainer were joyfully and duly escorted to the B. & O. depot by Company C, the can brigade, composed of Ohioville's rising generation after which the happy couple took their departure for Sandy Lake, Pa. where they expect to spend several weeks. The couple expect to make their future home in Uniontown.

Mrs. Mary Round died Wednesday at 1:55 P. M. at her home near here of Bright's disease. Interment was made in Mitchell cemetery this afternoon at 2 P. M. The man named Round, who was quarantined in Connellsville several days ago, is her son and at the time he was quarantined with smallpox was on his way home to see his mother. Mrs. Round had been ill for many months and had just lately returned from the Uniontown hospital where she had been under treatment. Her husband, J. H. Round, was killed on the railroad at this place about three years ago.

The small boys of this place went to Witz Corner yesterday, and there defeated the small boys of that place by a score of 23 to 15. This is the first game of ball of the season for the boys and they are mighty over their victory.

MEN'S UNION SUITS.

The Popular Choice of Summer Underwear.

Maybe you have never worn a Union Suit, and if not, of course, you don't know how comfortable they are, but on the other hand, you know well enough what a nuisance it is these warm days to have the ordinary sort of underwear clinging to you, and becoming more and more uncomfortable with every move you make. Union Suits, being all in one piece, cannot do this—it stays where you put it, and consequently does away with all the discomforts of a separate shirt and drawers. We carry a complete line of these in Cotton, Lisle Thread and Australian Wool, in the following grades:

$1, $1.50, $2 and $2.50.

A Little Group of FIGURED LAWN.

8½c per yard.

Former Price, 15 cents per yard.

There isn't very much of this under-priced Lawn—perhaps a couple of hundred yards, but there is a good selection of patterns to choose from. They include pieces that range from five to twenty yards, all of them fifteen cent values, but owing to the fact that the patterns (all of which have been our best sellers) cannot be duplicated, we must close them out at once, and regard a radical cut of this kind as the surest method of doing so.

A CLEAN-UP IN Lace and Wash Stocks.

25c and 35c Kind at 19c.

Our Ladies' Neckwear has been one of the most active stocks in our busy store, and as a result many lines have become broken. We have taken all of these depleted lines and, regardless of the prices they bore, put them all in one group at 19c.

There are among them stocks made in White, Blue and Pink Pique; also many pretty Lace, Crash and Lawn stocks. They form a goodly sized assortment from which to make a selection.

EXTRAORDINARY SALE

Trimmed Hats.

Our milliners have outdone themselves in their efforts to make this sale a success, to give you values you never could have expected to secure. They have proven fully their ability in the past to create the most beautiful millinery effects ever seen in this vicinity. All this creative genius and artistic skill has combined to give you in this sale a selection of millinery beauty which would seem impossible at four times the prices placed upon them. There are two groups of them,

One Group at $1.95.

Consisting of hats whose real values are $3.00, in a large assortment of shapes and beautifully trimmed.

Another Group at $2.95.

Consisting of hats whose values are easily $5.00 handsomely trimmed with flowers and ribbons, in a bewildering variety of shapes.

The New Tourist Skirt

In Crash and Scotch Mixtures.

These are an entirely new style, made in walking lengths, and very handsomely made, and combined with a shift waist will make the snappiest kind of a Summer costume. They have all the style and appearance that a custom-tailor could give them, strapped seams, trimmed with tabs and self-covered buttons. Then the materials of which they are made are the most favored of the season. Light in weight, but having the shape-retaining qualities of the heavier goods. We show them in two prices,

$5.00 and $8.50.

New Gloves a Necessary Item.

The Prettiest Costume Incomplete Without Them.

Little matters it if your Summer bonnet and gown are "dreams" if the gloves strike a discordant note as to color, style or age. New gloves are easy to get—there's little to pay for the most stylish sort if you come to The Wright-Metzler Co., Cotton, Silk and Lisle Thread.

From 25c to $1.00.

Twenty-Five Mohair Skirts

At a Diminished Price.

These are very stylish, perfect-fitting skirts in blue and black Mohairs, strap seams, and prettily trimmed with Mohair buttons to match. There is no material more satisfactory in wearing qualities than Mohair, and when you consider that we have sold these at $4.00, and they were exceptional values at that price, you will easily realize the bargain you will be securing in the purchase of one of these at $2.48.

There are only a small lot of them, of course, but there is all sizes among them, so that by coming early you can find a suitable size.

Muslin Underwear

of Superlative Worth.

We have spared no pains to make this department one of exceptional value-giving, and our efforts have been crowned with success. We are offering values which we are sure surpass any muslin underwear value you have ever seen. There are many reasons upon which we base this claim, but we cannot detail them here. We invite inspection. We feel sure of your patronage.

Dainty, Comfortable Summerwear FOR THE BABY.

The baby suffers just as much as you do from the excessive heat of summer weather, and would probably grumble just as loud if it could. Our Infants' Wear Department is full of pretty gauzy dresses, with underwear to match. Some of them made in silk, others in lawn, trimmed with lace or embroidery, as you choose. In fact everything for baby's comfort can be found here: Gauze vests, hosiery, shoes, caps, etc.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

The Republican National Convention adjourned finally yesterday afternoon. Its work may be epitomized as follows:

THE NOMINATIONS.

For President, Theodore Roosevelt of New York.
For Vice President, Charles Warren Fairbanks of Indiana.

THE PLATFORM.

A record of things done rather than of things promised.

If the convention opened lamely.

It did not close that way. It went out in a blaze of burning enthusiasm not calculated to encourage the Democratic hope that the Republican party and the country will prove to be lukewarm in support of the Republican ticket. There will be just as much enthusiasm for Roosevelt and Fairbanks this year as there was for McKinley and Roosevelt four years ago, and the result in November will be just the same.

The ticket is remarkable for two things, and they are by no means elements of weakness. Both candidates are comparatively young men, Roosevelt being 46 and Fairbanks 52, and both were nominated by acclamation. Neither sought their nomination. In each case, the office actually sought the man. The leaders of the party by common consent turned to President Roosevelt as the proper person to head the ticket, and the nomination for Vice President was forced upon Senator Fairbanks.

Both men have already demonstrated their fitness for the offices to which they aspire. They are not experiments. Their records are before the people. It is a performance, not a promise. The wise man weighs his neighbor, not by his words, but by his deeds.

So let the two great political parties and their candidates be weighed by the people.

The secrets of Senator Fairbanks' popularity have leaked out. He was once a newspaper man.

Governor Pennypacker wasn't one of the "also spokes" at the convention. He was, on the contrary, the real thing.

Between the eagle eye of Health Officer Hyatt and the visits of State Inspectors, the milk dealers of Connellville couldn't sell bad milk if they wanted to.

"Uncle Joe" Cannon escaped what a number of good people seemed to be hunting for.

A POOR OPINION.

Meyersdale Paper Doesn't Think Much of United Mine Workers.

The Meyersdale Republican does not seem to have an exalted opinion of the national organizers of the United Mine Workers. It notes their return to the Salisbury region, and says:

"Their coming does not change the aspect of the strike in the least, and this past week the Somerset Coal Company has had two scores of their old men apply for positions, but the company have no vacancies, and but few of those applying were given work. The company are in hopes that trade may look up so that they can start some of the smaller mines to give employment to those that are applying. There are a few of the old men who will never get back of course, no matter what may arise. Among those who went to work this past week was a vice president of one of the local unions. On Friday night the organizers held a mass meeting at Salisbury, and the addresses made were political ones, or abusing the editors of this paper and the Salisbury Star.

"Backed up by the presence of a number of their blind and misguided followers they will say things that they do not have the moral courage to say in the presence of either editor Livengood or the editor of this paper. They are a parcel of blatant cowards, and leeches upon any community that has the misfortune to be burdened with their presence. After a close observation of their work we are in a position to unqualifiedly state that their only good to this community for the past six months has been to patronize the hotels and bar rooms, and we defy them to show where they have been of any service to the mine they are supposed to represent."

The Democratic press call is "Roosevelt's show." Well, it's a good show. The Democratic ass is rarely so good a drawing card as the Republican clephant.

The effervescent and irrepressible Prohibition leader, Dr. Elias C. Swallow, is advising the Democratic leaders whom to nominate for President. This is a case where one swallow does not make a runner.

It was a clear case of the office seeking the man with Senator Fairbanks.

The Fayette county Democratic politician who talks of Cleveland and Miles for a national ticket is, we opine, miles away from the possibilities of the situation.

SEEKING MR. LOOMIS.

American Messenger of State Bearing Dispatches Disappears.

London, June 24.—A dispatch from Plymouth says that the authorities there are investigating the disappearance of Kent J. Loomis, brother of Francis D. Loomis, American assistant secretary of state, who "was bearing important dispatches to the American ambassador at Paris."

It is surmised that Mr. Loomis, who was a passenger on board the Kaiser Wilhelm II, which left New York June 14 and arrived at Plymouth June 20, may have landed at Plymouth.

The authorities, the dispatch says, are seeking to identify Mr. Loomis, an American who left Plymouth for London on the night of June 21.

Miss Dove Killed by Paramour.

St. Louis, June 24.—A man supposed to be Nelson P. Benson of Kansas City fatally wounded Miss Mary Dove and then shot himself, dying shortly afterward. Miss Dove is 17.

The shooting occurred in the Gunels hotel, where the couple had registered as Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Cummings.

SENDS WORD TO MOTHER.

Senator Fairbanks Telegraphs News of His Nomination to Springfield.

Springfield, O., June 24.—The mother of Senator Fairbanks, Mrs. Mary Adelaide Fairbanks, lives in this city with her daughter, Mrs. M. L. Milligan. She is 74 years old.

BYERS EQUITY SUIT.

A Supplemental Defense Filed Over Division of Estate.

David Byers, who with Rebecca Williams, is one of the defendants in the equity suit brought by George C. Byers some months ago, has had a supplemental defense prepared and filed by Attorney L. H. Frasher. The two men are brothers and the suit grew out of a division of their valuable estate which lies mostly near Snook station, in Franklin township.

The defendant, David Byers, admits many of the allegations in the bill of complaint, but denies most emphatically that he assigned, conveyed or in any way disposed of a portion of his property for the purpose of hindering, delaying or cheating Geo. C. Byers out of his just rights. He says that it had been his intention for many years to give liberally of his estate to Emily Shneyfelter and Rebecca Viola Williams, as his wife was dead, he had no children and his home was broken up. Without legal advice or taking a thought as to what effect such action might have on the interests of his brother he transferred a portion of the real estate to the parties named.

Byers says he did this largely to provide a home for himself in his declining years. For this reason only he had made the assignment and deed mentioned in the bill of complaint. He says that at no time had he any notion of trying to cheat or defraud the plaintiff out of his just and legal rights.

Some men will pay some particular cook more than some other one, and then not know why they should pay a certain tailor more than some other one. Now, when you have a suit made here you won't pay a cent more than it's worth, yet if you were paying that amount to the ordinary tailor you would be paying a deal too much.

MISSIONARY MEETING

Of Home and Foreign Societies of the Presbyterian Church

HELD AT DUNBAR THURSDAY.

A Most Interesting Program Was Carried Out, Some of the Papers and Talks Being by Connellsville Members of the Societies.

Dunbar, June 24.—An occasion to which the members of the ladies of the Home and Foreign Missionary societies have been looking forward with considerable interest was that of the annual meeting of the fourth district of the societies of the Redstone Presbytery, which convened here yesterday. The morning session, which was taken up by devotional exercises, convened from 11 o'clock to 12 M. After that a social hour was granted during which time the ladies partook of their lunch. The ladies of this society served tea and coffee during the social hour. The morning session was conducted by Mrs. Lyle, wife of Rev. J. D. Lyle of Scotland.

At one o'clock the meeting was again called to order by Mrs. Parker of Scotland. Mrs. I. C. Smutz of New Haven, whose place it would have been to conduct the afternoon session, was absent owing to illness. The session was opened by singing "Crown Him Lord of All," Mrs. Ward of Connellsville read the 52nd chapter of Isaiah; singing, "Take Time to Be Holy," prayer by Mrs. W. A. Edle of Connellsville; song, "Sunshine in My Soul," prayer by Mrs. Lyle, Sr., of Scotland; song, "Where My Redeemer Leads Me," prayer by Mrs. Evans of Dunbar; prayer by Mrs. Parker. A very interesting paper was then read upon the subject of Mormonism by Miss Anna B. Day of Connellsville, followed by a solo by Miss Ella Byers of Dunbar; a paper on the "Interior of a Mormon Home," by Mrs. W. A. Edle of Connellsville. Rev. Phillips, who is engaged among the foreign element of the Redstone Presbytery, talked for 20 minutes telling something of how the foreigners felt when they left their homes and came to this country and of the treatment that they expected to receive at the hands of the American people. He said in most cases they were disappointed and that the American people were to a great extent responsible for the condition of the foreign element as it exists in America today.

A letter from a foreign missionary was read by Mrs. Smith. Then came a solo, "Scenes of My Childhood," by Mrs. Jones; recitation, by Miss Storer, and a paper on "China," by Mrs. Jones. B. Hill. Mrs. Hill in a very amusing manner told how she had been requested to give a paper on China and of how she had been asked to not consume more than four or eight minutes and that some of her closest friends urged that she confine herself to only four minutes. But she said that she read showed that a considerable amount of valuable and interesting information could be said on the subject of China in even so short a period as four minutes.

A flower recital by five girls was then a very pretty part of the program. At this period an offering was taken, which amounted to $12.18. An anthem by six young ladies of Mt. Pleasant, entitled "Lord, Send Us Showers of Blessings," followed. Rev. Lyle of Scotland then delivered an interesting address in keeping with the occasion. A song, "Rock of Ages," by Mr. Phillips in his native language, was next on the program, followed by a recitation by Mrs. Evans of Connellsville. After a short song service the meeting was closed by prayer by Rev. James B. Hill. The annual meeting of all the societies of the Redstone Presbytery will convene at West Newton on October 4, 5 and 6, 1904. The meeting was attended by about 100 members of the various societies of the district and there were a good number of visitors present. The Presbyterian Church was very beautifully decorated for the occasion by the flower committee of the Young People's Society.

Thomas Connell of Monongah, W. Va., is the guest of his brother, Patrick Connell, of Specer, Pa. Mrs. John Smith left Thursday over the B. & O. to visit her parents, who reside at Baltimore, Md. Mrs. Smith will be gone for several weeks. The Point Marion first alle will come to Dunbar tomorrow, where they will play a return game with our boys. The game promises to be very interesting. The boys claim that it will be the game of the season. Point Marion won the game when Dunbar visited their own and now our fellows think that they can beat Point Marion.

Tucker Hunt, the jovial conductor who runs on trains Nos. 3 and 1, between Pittsburg and Weston, W. Va., was in our town a few hours yesterday morning.

Read The Daily Courier for all the home news.

Mrs. Lizzie Timmel of Connellsville has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Eisenberger during the past few days.

Uniontown Brigade Hurl. The Boys' Brigade of Uniontown visited the local brigade Thursday evening. They came down 75 strong, with a battalion of two companies, one of cavalry and one of infantry. The boys drilled on the streets here and made a handsome appearance. Many more than eight or ten years old, but they have a very soldierly bearing in spite of their youth.

For Striking Matches.

Manno Passino, an Italian, was fined $1.50 last evening before Justice of the Peace Frank Miller. He was arrested by B. & O. Officer W. A. Metzger, who accused him of striking matches against passenger coaches. The foreigner was let off with a low fine on account of his alleged ignorance of the law.

TRINITY GARDEN PARTY.

Large Crowd Was in Attendance on Thursday Evening.

One of the largest and most successful church parties ever held in New Haven was the garden party held in the rectory grounds of the Rev. Dr. T. S. Cartwright, Thursday evening. The grounds were brilliantly illuminated with electric lights and Japanese lanterns. The crowd throughout the afternoon and evening filled every part, even to discomfort. The different tables were amply supplied and effectively served. The Connellsville Military Band gave a delightful concert. The Rev. Dr. Lloyd of Uniontown and others made short addresses and the results, socially and financially, were eminently satisfactory.

The greatest credit is due to Dr. and Mrs. Cartwright and the ladies and gentlemen by whom they were so ably assisted for the admirable arrangements made and the pleasant results attained.

Luncheon and Bridge Whist. A luncheon was given by Mrs. James A. Childs of Pleasant Level Thursday afternoon in honor of her guests, Miss Marjorie Patterson and Miss Sophia McCormick of Pittsburg. At 10 o'clock covers were laid for Mrs. J. K. Ewing, Mrs. J. B. Hogg, Mrs. R. E. Umbel, Mrs. William Marshall, Mrs. Deall and Miss Dawson, all of Uniontown; Miss Marjorie Patterson and Miss Sophia McCormick of Pittsburg; Mrs. A. C. Overholt of Scotland; Mrs. J. McD. Bryce of Mt. Pleasant; and Mrs. S. C. Valentine of Dunbar. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in bridge whist.

Miss Davidson's Dance. Miss Edith Davidson of North Pittsburg street gave a very delightful dance Thursday evening in Markell hall in honor of her house guest, Miss Mildred Wenzel, of New York and Mr. Florence Blalock of Franklin, Pa. Music was furnished by Kiefer's Orchestra. There were about 20 couples present. The out-of-town guests were Miss Helen Hanson, Miss Mary Graham, Miss Helen Henderson, Ernest Deall, Maurice Graham and Mr. Robinson of Uniontown.

Entertained for Guests. Miss Mary Hicks of Fayette street entertained Thursday evening in honor of the Misses Lida and Carrie Jones of Ashby, Pa., who are her guests. The evening was spent in a very delightful manner, games being the principal amusements. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock. There were about 18 guests present. Those from out of town were the Misses Nell Olive and Catherine Kell of Poplar Grove and Frank Newcomer and Albert Boyd of Scotland.

A Porch Party. Miss Elsie Kerner and Miss Sarah Work gave a very delightful porch party Thursday evening at the former's home in the Marietta apartments. The tables were arranged for cards and were placed on the porch which was decorated with plants and flowers. Luncheon was served at 11 o'clock. There were about 15 guests present.

Miss Guster Entertains. Miss Alice Guster, a very pleasant and entertaining number of her friends at her home on Snyder street Thursday evening. Games and music were the amusements of the evening until a late hour. There were 15 guests present.

McCoy—Edenbo. Jerry M. H. McCoy and Miss Mary E. Edenbo, both of near Connellsville, were married last evening by Justice of the Peace Frank Miller. The couple expected to make their home in Connellsville.

OUT FOR THIS GAME

Elks Will Try Hard to Redeem Themselves Tomorrow. The Pittsburg and Connellsville Elks teams will play the second league game of their series tomorrow afternoon at the Marietta & Stillwagon park. The game will be called about 3.15. Either Cumberland or Nickel will pitch for Pittsburg and Seadon will be on the rubber for Connellsville. The local boys will make an effort to redeem themselves for the defeat at the hands of Pittsburg in a sloppy game last Saturday. Besides the lineup the Pittsburg had last Saturday they will be strengthened tomorrow by Art Gumbert, the old Chicago twirler, and perhaps Roddy Wallace, the star short stop of the St. Louis American League team, who is a member of the Pittsburg Lodge of Elks, and who is taking a short rest at his home in Millvale.

Next week the Connellsville Elks team will play two and perhaps three games. One will be a league game with Braddock at Braddock on Wednesday or Thursday transferred from Saturday owing to the fact that Braddock cannot secure grounds. Saturday a game will be played with a visiting team not yet secured. The return game with Greensburg may also be played next week. On the fourth, next Monday a week, Braddock will be here for two games.

Baptist Recognition Council. Next Monday at 9 o'clock P. M. the Recognition Council of the South Side Baptist Church will reconvene. The church having carried out decisions of Council, now awaits their final action. There will also be held an evening service at 8 o'clock P. M. to which the general public is cordially invited. Miss Rose Stillwagon will sing at these meetings.

Brown Recovered. Henry Brown, the colored man who was shot at Leith on June 5 by Henry Jackson, was today discharged from the Uniontown Hospital. He was wounded twice, once in the abdomen and once in the breast. His assailant is still in jail, charged with felonious shooting.

Stories of Survivors and Incidents of Steamboat Horror.

HEROISM OF A GRANDMOTHER.

Spartan Woman Gives Up Her Life For a Boy—Plucky Work of An Unknown Hero—Young Lad Kicks Girl to Save Her.

Survivors of the General Slocum disaster in New York waters have related many thrilling stories of their experiences. Deeds of heroism and tragic and pathetic incidents were enacted. Here are some of them:

Torn from the arms of his uncle by frantic women who fought to save themselves upon the back of Fireman Fred Hoffman of Engine company No. 25, little Raymond Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hoffman of Jersey City, went to the bottom after his grandmother, Mrs. Cecelia Hoffman, had declined to leave the boat until the child was saved. The Spartan grandmother's body was later identified among the dead, says the New York American.

Fireman Hoffman, who lives in New York, had a day off on the day of the disaster. He had taken his mother, his brother Ernest's wife and their two children, Raymond, aged five years, and Edna, aged three, for a day's outing on the General Slocum.

The young fireman saw the danger at once when the fire was first discovered. Instinctively he turned to save his mother. Being an athlete and a strong swimmer, he would have had no difficulty in getting her ashore.

"Come quick, mother!" he shouted to the old lady.

He was holding out his arms to her and begging her to come with him. The mother held the little children close to her breast and cried in terror. Fondly the grandmother looked at the little boy and, with rare coolness, said to her son:

"You save Buster before you come for me."

"Buster" was little Raymond's pet name. The firemen lost time. Taking the child in his arms, he made a dive head first from the boat. He came up in the center of a perfect sea of frantic, shrieking and terror-stricken women, who were battling to keep above the waves and grabbing at each other and at every stray thing in their mad attempts to save themselves.

As the fireman's head came to the surface, instinctively the desperate women made for him. They struggled, clutched and fought for any sort of hold upon the powerful young fellow, and in the struggle they madly snatched the child from his arms. Down through a furious sea of humanity went the child. Fighting his way through the surging humanity, the fireman circled around, looking for the boy to come up. He never gained sight of the child again.

In despair he turned again to the boat to get his mother. Climbing up over the side, he ran about through the flame and smoke, shouting, "Mother, mother, I have come for you!"

Dazed with grief, Hoffman again leaped into the water and made his way to the shore. He had lost all sense of his surroundings, and how and when he got a street car for home he did not know. Later he was found almost delirious at his home. His mind was wrecked. Then Ernest Hoffman identified their mother among a heap of the dead.

The name of one man who did his part on the Slocum may perhaps never be known. He was an excursionist—those on the island who watched and saw that. When the fire was at its height he climbed out on to the starboard paddle box of the steamer and, encouraging them with cool and quiet commands, picked six women in turn out of the struggling mass just below him and handed them down to the men on the deck of tug No. 7 of the New York Central railroad, which had run up alongside, says the New York Post.

In a short time the fire had spread to the place where he stood, and the men below, no longer able to face the flames that were leaping out around them, called on him to jump. The man never flinched, but as the tug wheeled off he picked up another woman and with all his strength swung her clear and threw her into the outstretched hands below. His own clothes were on fire by that time, but still he did not jump, and the last the tugmen saw of him was when he fell senseless into the river. They watched for him to come to the surface, but he never rose.

"He saved my life, and I'm going to marry him when he gets old enough," said fourteen-year-old Ida Wosky of New York as she gazed with admiration at thirteen-year-old John Tishner, of the same address, who had saved her life in the General Slocum disaster after a falling timber had struck her on the head and rendered her nearly unconscious, says the New York Journal.

The children had been rescued and were feeling very lively after drinking some hot coffee at the house to which they had been taken. "She was fainting and I knew I couldn't save her if she lost her grip, so I gave her a kick in the shins that waked her up," said Tishner. "Then I got a lot of life preservers, most of them rotten, and after a long time I got a good one on Ida. The tugs were coming near us then and I told her to jump. She wouldn't jump, and I pushed her over. When I jumped in the water myself and got hold of her hair and held her up until the tug came and we were pulled out."

The children, who live in the same house, had gone to the excursion together and they were eating ice cream when the fire started a few feet from them.

Special Officer Halsey, out in a row from the De La Verne row works on North Brother Island, tells of a boy's wonderful show of strength and bravery. The boy is Edward Lamm, who lives in New York. He is fourteen, of slight physique.

"When we found the little fellow he was swimming forward as hard as he could with his younger brother clinging to one of his feet," said Halsey. "Two smaller children, a still younger brother and a little sister, were clinging to the leg of the boy behind Edward. Thus he was bearing all of them and sticking to his task with splendid nerve."

One man who recently visited St. Mark's church in Sixth street, New York, where many victims of the disaster worshipped, told a story that brought tears even to the eyes of the wrinkled police officer who was on guard there, says the New York Times. The visitor was N. W. Dillon of New York, and he was inquiring for his little niece, Mary Diamond, the eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. Katherine Diamond, Mr. Dillon, when he reached the church, was clanking in one hand a crumpled bit of paper which the little girl had given to him just before she boarded the General Slocum. On the paper was a verse she had written for him. It was as follows:

She meets me on the corner,
At the closing of the day,
And tells me that she loves me,
My golden-headed May.

"That's for you to think about me with," she had said to him. "She was all I had," he moaned. "Every day she ran to meet me when I came home. I'd rather die than live without her."

There were many pathetic incidents and tragedies enacted at the morgue. One of the most pathetic incidents was the identification of little Elsie Spektor by her father, Edward Spektor of New York. When he recognized the body in a plain white box on the pier he could hardly be controlled, says the New York Times. He threw his watch, ring and purse into the caps. "Take all, take all," he cried. "I do not want to live, now that my baby is dead."

Elsie was Mr. Spektor's favorite child, and he had hoped against hope that she might have been saved.

Right behind Mr. Spektor was a man who was frantic with grief. He was huddled with the idea that the body of his little girl, who is among the missing, was on the pier, but was being withheld from him.

"You are trying to hide my child from me!" he cried. "Take me to her! Give me my little girl!"

It was finally deemed best to lend him away. He was taken home by friends who declined to give his name or address. Case after case just as sad was observed.

In his first fit a little boy who was picked out of the water clutched a bean bag, says the New York Press. Identifying him had been leading it to his playthings when the blow fell, and he must have jumped in the water immediately, because his face was free from burns. The beans in the bag had swollen, and the calico covering was stretched tightly.

What an earth is this little fellow? asked Coroner O'Connor as he took the boy from the child's hand. Then one of the nurses whispered: "Coroner, I think it's a bean bag."

"This is one of the most pathetic cases of all," said the coroner as he came from a death house with a slip of paper in his hand. The paper was found folded in the handkerchief of a little drowned boy whose name was George Gilley and who was twelve years old. The note was to George's teacher and was signed "His Mother." The note requested the teacher to excuse the boy from school because he was going to have an outing on the St. Mark's excursion. The note was pinned to the little fellow's clothing, and the body was sent to the morgue, where he was identified by his father.

NEEDS HELP.

Subscriptions Welcome to Fort Necessity. Celebrate Managers.

Uniontown's Fort Necessity celebration needs help. The News Standard says:

"The appeal of the committee appointed to raise the necessary funds of the Fort Necessity celebration should meet with prompt and generous response. The expense is increased beyond the ordinary limit because of the transportation problem. The only way to reach the scene of the celebration is in vehicles over the pike, and the livery bill will necessarily be large. The committee feel that in order to insure the success of the event in all particulars they should have $1,000. Let the responses be liberal and prompt. The time is short."
